

Ādažu primary school

The new school building of Ādažu primary school was designed with high energy efficiency in mind. This is a good basis for reducing the operating costs of the building. All classrooms are equipped with autonomous ventilation systems, controlled by temperature and CO2 sensors and providing the students with a high-quality study environment. The selected Forbo floor coverings are neutral in colour with highlights to match the wall and door colours.

Fotograaf	Indriķis Stūrmanis
Arhitekt	Nams, Māris Malahovskis, Māris Krūmiņš; Līga Stāde
Projekti nimi	Ādažu primary school
ReferenceLocation	Ādaži, Latvia

Kasutatud pōrandakattētooted

