

Alexander Monro breast cancer hospital

The wish of General Manager Jan van Bodegom, the initiator of the extraordinary Alexander Monroe breast cancer hospital, has come through. The surgeon wanted to provide fully customized and personalized care. The interior plays a very important role. Each room of this 3,000-square-foot project is designed to give the patients a comfortable and safe feeling. On the floor Allura Wood luxury vinyl tiles have been chosen, together with durable, bacteriostatic Marmoleum flooring*. Both floor coverings are durable and easy to clean. *the installed striped Unexpected Nature floor is no longer in collection. For similar alternatives explore our Marmoleum Linear range.

Interior architect	C4iD Hilversum, Casper Schwarz
Installation by	Eliëns Interieur-Projekten Bv
Photographer	Hannes Design
Location	Bilthoven, NL

Used Products

Allura Wood 0.7
bleached rustic
pine

Unexpected Nature
muddy flow

