

Arbonia linoleum doors

The Arbonia doors division, with its wood solutions and glass solutions business units, is one of the leading European providers of interior doors and door frames. The wide range of innovative wooden and glass doors is aimed at both residential and commercial buildings. Thanks to state-of-the-art manufacturing technologies and a focus on design, quality and sustainability, Arbonia doors meet the highest standards in terms of functionality and aesthetics. Production locations in Europe and a strong sales network guarantee close customer proximity and short delivery times. The division stands for innovation and tradition and is a reliable partner for architects, builders and specialist retailers. Entry to new design spaces: New to the Arbonia range are now wooden doors with applied Furniture Linoleum from Forbo - from the door leaf to the edge. The surface linoleum is ideal because it offers a unique combination of aesthetics, feel and functionality. The matt, velvety surface gives the doors a high-quality appearance and the rooms a modern and timeless elegance. Furniture-refined wooden doors are resistant to scratches and wear and are particularly easy to care for - also because fingerprints remain almost invisible. The product is also a particularly sustainable choice as it is climate-positive and made from bio-based raw materials. You can find more information here:
