

Benje.GS

When @Benje.GS set out to renovate his home from top to bottom, he had a clear vision: create a modern, practical living space that would stand the test of time. What he didn't have was extensive DIY experience. Despite having very little previous flooring installation knowledge, Benje was determined to take on the project himself. After researching different options, he chose Allura Click Pro flooring for both his kitchen and bathroom, attracted by its durability, ease of installation, and stylish appearance. Like many homeowners undertaking a major renovation, Benje needed a flooring solution that could withstand daily life and would complement a modern interior design. The flooring also needed to be easy for him to install himself, but still deliver a professional-looking finish.
