

Canterbury Bungalow

Nestled away in Canterbury, Kent is a gorgeous Bungalow, moving in just over a year ago, a couple have made it their own with some stunning renovations and interior design choices. "Previous renovations had completely put me off any sort of ceramic tile. Ripping them all up is just something I don't ever want to do again – the mess, the time, the effort – a terrible experience. So, when starting renovations on our current home we knew we wanted a flooring solution that was simple, yet visually pleasing. We heard about Forbo Flooring Systems, and we could not be happier with our choice to source the Allura Flex LVT and Surestep safety vinyl." - Jackie Jaconelli, Home Owner. Allura Flex in a contemporary timber aesthetic was installed throughout the hallway, kitchen and conservatory, making the space look bigger and brighter, while the slip-resistant properties of the Surestep Aqua was the perfect choice for underfoot security in the bathroom.
