

Cité scolaire Edit du Roussillon

The Edit is a multi-purpose secondary school in Roussillon (38) offering a range of vocational, general and technological courses. A variety of subjects are studied here, including physics and chemistry, geopolitics and philosophy, as well as logistics, business and electricity. With the school complex undergoing major renovation, the architect Julie Vialle in charge of the project chose Forbo Flotex flooring for the dining room on the ground floor. The flooring was specially designed for this area, as it is a Flotex lab product, which is made to measure for a personalised floor.
