

Clermont School of Business

Located in Clermont-Ferrand, the Clermont School of Business is a higher education institution renowned for its international outlook. Its campus has been designed to promote interaction, creativity, and collaborative work, while offering comfortable spaces suited to students' everyday needs. As part of this development, 1 325 m² of Flotex flooring was installed in various areas of the school: classrooms, circulation areas, and collaborative spaces. Several collections and designs were selected to create different atmospheres, while ensuring perfect technical consistency. Thanks to its unique flocked textile technology, Flotex combines the durability of a resilient floor with the comfort of a textile covering. It offers excellent sound absorption, great walking comfort, and optimal resistance to the heavy traffic of a higher education institution. Washable, waterproof, and easy to maintain, it also guarantees a high level of hygiene and durability.
