

Departmental Headquarters in Nîmes

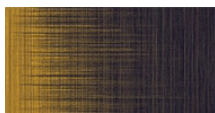

The Maison du Département in Nîmes, renovated by Jamot Romain Architecture, has been given a facelift to provide staff and visitors with a modern and welcoming work environment. As part of this project, Flotex flooring was selected for all workspaces and common areas. This unique flocked textile flooring combines the durability and ease of maintenance of resilient flooring with the warmth and comfort of carpet, while being 100% washable with water. Its acoustic properties and durability make it a particularly suitable choice for a high-traffic public building where staff and visitors interact on a daily basis. In total, approximately 3 200 m² of flooring was installed to bring this project to life.

Project name	Maison du Département
Building Contractor	Département du Gard
Architect	Jamot Romain Architecture
Location	Nîmes (30)
Date of completion	2025

Used Products

Advance
made-to-order
Code rose

Flotex created by Starck
Twilight umber /

