

Dronrijp Health Centre

Forbo's various products are based on technical specifications and design freedom. The colouring of Striato is based a wood-like image but without actual imitation (as is done with many PVC products, for example). Our aim was to be as natural as possible as regards image and material, so as to create visual tranquility. In the entrance area we used a connecting orange zone for the entry of visitors, guiding them both to the reception areas and to the counter and waiting zones. All in one excellent material!
