

Duddell's Restaurant

Duddell's London is located in the historic St. Thomas Church in the heart of London. Authentic Cantonese dishes and hand-made dim sum in the restaurant and Asian-inspired cocktails in the bar. Architectural firm Michaelis Boyd was commissioned to restore the interior of the building, one of the finest examples of Queen Anne architecture. The design is inspired by the traditional 60s tea house from Hong Kong, with many sustainable materials such as brass, tiles, glass, wood and a beautiful sustainable Marmoleum mosaic floor.
