

Espace culturel Maen-Roch

The cultural centre of Maen-Roc is designed by architect Gilbert Quéré. The building aims at sustainability along with a high insulation and energy performance. The interior spaces include a huge, brightly-lit media library and an auditorium which can seat around a hundred people. The auditorium atmosphere is controlled by mobile acoustic panels, as well as benefiting from the acoustic qualities of the Sarlon Traffic and Flotex flooring. Both flooring solutions guarantee high noise reduction.

Location	Maen-Roch, France
Architect	Gilbert Quéré
General Contractor	Mariotte
Photographer	Jean-François Mollière

Used Products

