

Ferm Living interior design company

Ferm LIVING is an interior design company based in Copenhagen, Denmark. The company works with craftsmen from all over the world and lets a Scandinavian background merge with global skills, traditions and sustainable values. "We take our responsibility towards people and the planet seriously and expect the same from our partners." Furniture Linoleum has been a part of ferm LIVING's collections since 2016. It is especially used on tables, eg the table "Mingle", in several dimensions. "The material has a maturity and calmness and is very sustainable, which is an important part of the story about the Mingles table series", elaborates senior designer and project director Kristine Juul Pedersen from ferm LIVING. "It's mat surface adds a dimmed and understated expression, which is important to us".
