

Garant Slagelse

The textile coating is very similar to the soft elegance and warm cosiness we love in the living room at home. But behind the pleasant exterior hides a muscle floor with industrial robustness. It is Hercules disguised as Madonna. At the floor retail shop - Garant in Slagelse, the flooring store has fully understood the story: Customers are welcomed on a textile coating that conveys the warmth and friendliness that Garant wants to be associated with. It is actually very unusual: We drive around with track goods on rolling racks that can weigh up to two tonnes - yet no pressure marks appear in the pavement, says Jacob Holberg, Garant Slagelse, who was responsible for both the purchase and selection of Flotex in plank format, design 'refract' and the colour 'obsidian'. - Besides it will take many years before the floor needs to be replaced again, because this floor just lasts for everything, says Jacob Holberg, who is also pleased with a quiet sound environment together with good ergonomics, because Flotex is comfortable to walk on.
