

General Practice

Clothes shop turned into a doctor's practice. This practice immediately attracts attention because of the colour palette and the wallpaper that has been applied. The building has been a former clothing store and has undergone a total transformation. It was a challenge to bring in sufficient daylight for all the rooms as the building only had a large shop window at the front. Studio van Dijn Architecten designed an atmosphere called "Spiced Dream" with warm colours and rich materials that have been carefully matched to each other. Durability, ease of maintenance, hygiene and the unprecedented possibilities of Marmoleum were important arguments in the floor choice. The combination of the colourful walls with calm, warm Marmoleum colours gives the practice a harmonious look.
