

Implemented educational buildings with Goldbeck GmbH

The companies Goldbeck and Forbo have successfully realised numerous projects in the education sector over the past decades. Goldbeck is the market leader in Europe for commercial properties and fulfils all the requirements of a modern learning and teaching space when planning educational buildings. The joint properties combine the creation of a positive room atmosphere, made possible by plenty of daylight, so that pupils can feel comfortable and develop. The family-owned company Goldbeck always takes responsibility when it comes to sustainability, so the choice fell on CO2-neutral linoleum flooring from Forbo in the sustainable building planning. Classrooms and group rooms where learning and playing take place have special requirements in terms of functionality and design. Marmoleum has optimally fulfilled these requirements over the course of the long-standing partnership: It is easy to clean, colourful and ecological and has thus proven to be an all-rounder in educational construction.
