

Inpatient and Intensive Care Unit

Idein Arquitetura, known for its expansion of Hospital Unimed Litoral and its focus on neuroscience in architecture, was called in five years later for a highly complex project in Balneário Camboriu (SC). Due to a pandemic, more beds were essential for the country's health centres. The floors were designed so as to facilitate space orientation, helping users to walk clearly and safely. Forbo was essential to the project given its range of products and uses. In patient bathrooms, for example, the huge color palette enriched the design.
