

Jessheim High School

Color use is one of many factors that form a building. The interaction between features, colors and materials is especially important in such a large and complex building as Jessheim High School. In the middle of the building there is a large glass-built atrium. The atrium is an oasis where the floor coverings, decorative elements and trees form a green landscape with opportunities for study, social gatherings and a relaxed ambiance with an outdoor feeling inside. On the floor various colors of Marmoleum Marbed flooring have been applied. (Marmoleum Fresco relaxing lagoon is out of collection)

General contractor	Seby AS / Veidekke AS
Builder	Seby AS / Veidekke AS
Interior architect	Kapsel Design
Architect	Arkitektene Vis-A-Vis AS
Location	Jessheim, Ullensaker, Norway
Photographer	Stine Østby
Flooring contractor	Ragnar Andersson tapetsermester AS

Used Products

