

Jobcenter Treptow-Köpenick, Berlin

The customer-oriented redesign of the Jobcenter Treptow-Köpenick in Berlin creates an inviting and calming atmosphere for both customers and employees of the facility. The emphasis was placed on clear orientation, so the counselor stations are marked with their respective numbers on signal yellow pendant lights. Overall, IONDESIGN placed the highest value on acoustic measures and ergonomic lighting design for a quiet environment in all areas of the interior design. The waiting area is divided into zones, which are delimited by the color design of the floor coverings: Sunny yellow for the children's play corner and a strong shade of blue for the cozy waiting area. This intense color contrast has been achieved with easy-care linoleum. Thanks to the color diversity of Forbo Linoleum, creative scope is opened up for floor concepts with brilliant colors for long-lasting use.
