

National Trust

A life of leisure at the national trust with Forbo Flooring Systems
 When the National Trust inherited an old building in Pembrokeshire, the plan to create an outdoor activity centre meant a major refurbishment to include extra facilities. As a part of this, choosing the right furnishings were crucial to ensure the decor was brought into the 21st century, as well as being practical and durable. Therefore, a range of floor coverings from Forbo Flooring Systems, including Flotex floxed flooring and Surestep safety vinyl, were specified as they ticked all the right boxes.

Location	Stackpole, Pembrokeshire, United Kingdom
----------	--

Used Products

