Nový Bydžov elderly home

For the Nový Bydžov elderly home, the architect sought a truly unique flooring design that was not available on the market. Working closely with Forbo's bespoke design team, the concept was developed and refined to match the architect's exact vision. Using Forbo's advanced digital printing technology on Eternal vinyl, custom flower and grass motifs were carefully recreated with a highly realistic and authentic appearance. Throughout the process, the design was reviewed and perfected in collaboration with the architect, ensuring every detail met the original brief. The result is an exclusive floor that combines creative freedom with the proven quality, durability, and performance of Eternal vinyl, delivered to the complete satisfaction of all involved.
