

Roman House

Forbo Flooring Systems’ impressive digital printing capabilities gave Giltown the scope to have some real fun with the interior design of new student accommodation in Newcastle, resulting in a scheme like no other – all while providing the performance properties required for a heavily used building. “The flooring played a key role within this project and we were determined to opt for floor coverings that have rarely been seen in this kind of environment before. After working with Forbo on earlier projects, we knew it’s wide range of high-end and quality products, along with its impressive bespoke design capabilities would help us to achieve this.” - James Gillespie, Project manager.

| | |
|--------------------|------------------------------|
| Date of Completion | June 2016 |
| Location | Newcastle |
| Architect | Giltown |
| Project Name | Roman House, Clavering Place |

Featured Flooring Products

Allura Flex Wood
natural collage
oak

