

T-Mobile office

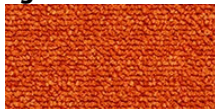

Besides a fresh new design, the reconstruction of the T-Mobile office completely transformed the character of the workplace of the largest Czech telecom operator – from small enclosed rooms to an open plan with a zoning system. CAPEXUS oversaw the entire project and was able to hand over the approved space with all the details just 5 months after the first sketches were created, and did so while the premises remained in full operation. In the final interior, sharing, teamwork and focused individual activity all work in harmony. Forbo was chosen by CAPEXUS interior designers because of its wide range of floor coverings and because it has proven itself a valuable partner.
