

TV JOJ

TV JOJ has started a complete reconstruction of its buildings and studios. They had a complete and very precise idea of what the future studio space and related facilities should look like and what types of materials would be used. Creativity, division of the space into different zones according to purpose, and of course the functionality of the material with an emphasis on quality and durability all pointed toward the clear choice of Flotex planks. The long corridors of the building and the use of Flotex planks made it possible to optically enlarge the space and visually divide it into individual parts very beautifully. This created zones with clear navigation according to the colours used: yellow, red and blue from the Flotex Colour collection, to which the entire space was subsequently adjusted, whether for the visitor zones, the employees themselves, or the VIP area. The entire space looks compact, graceful and pleasant, striking for its unique design that utilises mostly Flotex material.
