

The Thames Club

The raw and rustic charm of Forbo Flooring Systems' Allura Wood luxury vinyl tiles, along with its exceptional durability and ease of maintenance, has helped to complement a Scandinavian-Industrial style refurbishment of a health club coffee lounge in Staines, Surrey. The Thames Club coffee lounge is an open space that is used by members of the health club to unwind after a workout. Therefore, when Eva Jas at D-EVA was tasked with redesigning the area, she proposed a Scandinavian-Industrial style interior to reflect a light, comfortable and modern environment for visitors to relax. Eva Jas said: "I have always been an advocate of Scandinavian design. The characteristics veer towards simplicity, minimalism and functionality, which work well to create a calm and friendly atmosphere, which was required for The Thames Club. By using a neutral colour palette of grey, teal and beige, the subtle tones have transformed the lounge into a fresh and contemporary space, while the use of wooden materials and furniture enhances the room in a more industrial style."
