

UQ School of Architecture

Photographer: Christopher Frederick Jones

Fly Forbo 2017/2018 competition winner The design balances the brutalist building, designed in 1974 by Nutter Stevenson and Partners, with bold colors and graphics that are reminiscent of the supergraphics of the 1970s, while breathing contemporaneity and new life into the space. "By working closely with Forbo and Russell we were able to realize a rather complex design and installation. Understanding the capabilities of the Marmoleum floor covering and the installer was paramount to achieving the outcome and a true example of the benefit of communication and collaboration among all parties."

Architect	m3architecture
Photographer	Christopher Frederick Jones
Project name	Queensland University
Location	Australia
Flooring contractor	Russell Barnett

Used Products

