

University of Melbourne - Faculty of Architecture, Building and Planning

Within this building the next generation of architects, urban planners, ecologists, builders and landscape architects will learn to work in a highly connected way. The John Wardle design in collaboration with Boston architecture firm NADAAA is driven by the idea that the building itself becomes built pedagogy and a broader studio environment. Comprising dedicated spaces for research, along with studios, lecture theatres, a library, exhibition, and specialist workshop spaces. Awarded 6 Star Green star - Education Design v1 rating by the GBCA. The building is the first to ever be awarded all 10 innovation points possible in the evaluation criteria.
