

Wellington (China) International School

Wellington (China) Education Group has selected Marmoleum flooring for its international school campuses across China, spanning kindergarten through high school. This initiative represents an innovative exploration of how spatial design can contribute to educational development. Thanks to Marmoleum's inherent eco- friendly properties and design adaptability, students are immersed in a welcoming environment that fosters natural growth from their first steps on campus. The project incorporates a curated palette of over ten distinct colours, strategically applied to delineate functional zones and enhance spatial orientation.
