

e-Governance Academy, main office

The new headquarters of the e-Governance Academy, located in the new Golden Gate building, brings together a contemporary office and an international training centre. The space is clearly divided into two main zones: an office area for focused day-to-day work and a flexible meeting and event space for training sessions, workshops and visitors. The interior concept reflects the organisation's digital and international outlook, while natural materials, warm tones and flowing forms add a soft, human touch. Subtle golden accents create a visual connection with the building's architecture, while views towards Tallinn's Old Town, harbour and the contemporary Rotermann Quarter become part of the spatial experience. The result is an innovative yet welcoming working environment with Nordic clarity, reflecting eGA's mission to share Estonia's e-governance experience with the world.

|                    |                  |
|--------------------|------------------|
| Location           | Tallinn, Estonia |
| Architect          | Arhitekt11       |
| Interior Architect | Arhitekt11       |
| Floor Designer     | Arhitekt11       |
| General Contractor | Nordecon         |
| Photographer       | Kristjan Möru    |

Used Products

Allura Decibel 0.8
Wood
natural antique

