

National Trust

A life of leisure at the national trust with Forbo Flooring Systems

When the National Trust inherited an old building in Pembrokeshire, the plan to create an outdoor activity centre meant a major refurbishment to include extra facilities. As a part of this, choosing the right furnishings were crucial to ensure the decor was brought into the 21st century, as well as being practical and durable. Therefore, a range of floor coverings from Forbo Flooring Systems, including Flotex, Westbond, Floorink and Surestep were specified as they ticked all the right boxes.

One of the Flotex products that has been used in this design is Flotex Vision Linear – Vector.
