

FORBO AT THE IVY

Forbo Ireland threw a party recently in Ireland's newest and trendiest restaurant, The Ivy Restaurant on Dawson Street. Attended by Dublin's top architects, Forbo introduced their new line of Marmoleum, Marmoleum Marbled, and highlighted its commitment to a sustainable future.

As part of that commitment, Forbo have dedicated themselves to producing products which do not affect worldwide climate change. To that end, Forbo Marmoleum is the only CO2 neutral resilient system on the market and so the best choice for architects concerned with ensuring a better environment for all.

Sincere thanks to all who attended and for making it such an enjoyable and informative affair. Roll on next year.

Call 01 289 8898
or email info@forbo-flooring.ie creating better environments

1. Crina Toderic, Rebecca Wadsworth and Pauline Cattin from Henry J Lyons.
2. Balazs Keresztury from Walsh Associates, Elaine McHugh from Reddy Architecture and Edwin Scally from Quilligan Architects.
3. Interior designer Oisín Mac Manus and Ann Walsh Glick from Forbo
4. Mona Jakobson, Penny Linton and Bianca Samarghitan from Meehan Associates.
5. Bregjie Smulder from Forbo.
6. John O'Dwyer from Meehan Associates and Bregjie Smulders from Forbo

7. Declan Carolan from Forbo, Jackie Carroll and Francis Carroll from MCOH Architects.
8. Paul Finnegan, Lisa O'Neill, Emanuela Cepiou, Shauna Corcoran and Richard May from MOLA.
9. Una McCabe from Nua Concepts and Designs and Amy McKeogh Fíor Studios.