marmoleum® WELL-BEING STARTS HERE

In a world where we spend on average 85% of our time indoors, it only feels natural to give full focus on improving the quality of our indoor environment. Every square yard of our schools, healthcare institutions, workplaces, leisure centers and living spaces creates an opportunity to bring the best from nature to our indoor surroundings. Our floors lie at the base of so many prominent places. Therefore, we made it our mission to design and offer products that contribute in a positive way to the health and comfort of the individual by bringing nature in.

Creating a seamless connection between our living spaces and the natural world.

Marmoleum contributes to each and everyone's well-being on many levels. From the natural materials we use to the colors we offer. Its tactility and beautiful colors influence all your senses. Marmoleum brings a touch of nature in our daily lives and reinforces our connection to the environment.

marmoleum® MADE FROM NATURAL RAW MATERIALS

WOOD FLOUR

After we add finely ground upcycled wood (wood flour) such as the branches, trunks, and roots of the trees harvested in the certified forestry industry.

LINSEED OIL

Linseed oil is pressed from the seeds of the flax plant, we use.

UPCYCLED MARMOLEUM

Upcycle of our Marmoleum as we take back old floors and grind them to new raw materials for new Marmoleum floors.

Marmoleum is plastic free and does not contain any harmful ingredients. Already boasting best in class quality, but with up to 98% use of natural raw materials of which 70% is rapidly renewable, it is a true natural beauty. It is climate positive - cradle to gate, without compensation.

We are fully focused on closing the loop and making sure that our responsibility for our products doesn't stop the moment the material leaves the factory. Therefore we have transitioned Marmoleum from the linear economic business model to meet the principles of the circular economy model: reduce the use of materials, optimize resources, increase the use of recycled materials, and develop take-back programs and end-of-life recycling options.

PINE ROSIN

Rosin from pine trees which, together with the linseed oil, is heated and creates a linoleum cement.

COCOA HUSKS

We upcycle waste of the cocoa industry by adding cocoa husks to our marmoleum in the cocoa collection.

PIGMENTS

Pigments and natural iron oxide take care of the coloration of the granules.

JUTE

The fibers from the jute plant are used for the jute mesh carrier on which linoleum is calandered.

LIMESTONE

The next element to be added to a linoleum paste mix is limestone to create linoleum granules.

THE DYNAMICS OF A BUILDING

There is an increase in demand for transitional environments; spaces need to be able to evolve and adapt to new functions. These constantly changing spaces require walls and floors that can perform as a chameleon, with timeless colors and basic materials. The trends and changing mindsets inspired the Forbo Design team to analyze the different dynamics taking place within a building.

Five themes were identified; receiving, moving, connecting, concentrating and recharging, with each one referring to the different identities a space can have. They express a certain state of a person or an activity taking place within the building.

RECEIVING

The theme 'receiving' describes the scenario of a person entering a building; making a transition from the outdoors to the indoors. A space where one should feel welcome and is accessible and transparent as first impressions are key. This is the area of the building that should clearly represent the 'feel' of the brand and meet the expectations of the client to make them feel comfortable and at home.

MOVING

'Moving' represents the action towards the destination and the purpose of why someone is in a building. Orientation is priority, so these areas need to be clear to read and offer guidance even when one is stressed. The space needs to be legible and aid with wayfinding

CONNECTING

The dynamics of a 'connecting' space signifies areas where you will connect with other people within a building, such as open public spaces for spontaneous interactions or semi open spaces for dialogues or brainstorming. These areas allow for an extra energy boost or to give the brain time out.

CONCENTRATING

For 'concentrating', the attention is on the individual and avoiding unwelcome distractions. These are secluded spaces for privacy and focus, and while concentrating, people need a muted ambiance. Therefore, color palettes in this area of a building should be subtle and quiet.

RECHARGING

'Recharging' is connected to mindfulness and describes relaxed environments where people can let down their guard and be themselves. This area of the building should reflect a home-like setting, to allow people to refresh and recharge. Light and fresh shades should be used here, encouraging people to take a break, breathe and escape.
